Munster Cathedral. This ancient building which is a mixture of the Roman and Gothic styles of architecture, was commenced in 1250. The front was started at the beginning of the 15th century and finished in 1439.

A favourite feature with visitors is the celebrated astronomical clock. Every hour the exterior of this wonderful clock exhibits different features and at noon figures of the apostles move round a representation of Christ, whilst a cock on the highest pinnacle flaps its wings and crows loudly.
